The Mennonite Church—1964

BY A. J. METZLER

Executive Secretary of Mennonite General Conference

The Mennonite Yearbook represents the most comprehensive gathering and publication of current information regarding Mennonites in all parts of the world. Being a publication primarily for the group known as the Mennonite Church, there is more detailed information regarding these 93,773 members. This covers 1,214 congregations, the twenty-one conferences with their organizations, agencies, and activities, and the general organization, boards, committees, and institutions serving the Mennonite Church.

It is not intended to give information here which is contained elsewhere in this volume, or which can be secured upon request from the offices of the agencies serving the church. Rather, I hope to give a broad picture of the brotherhood, its life and work, trusting to whet the appetite of the reader and to assist him in pursuing the large amount of information available. We hope that in making available to homes and congregations this picture of our church, and particularly its united and co-operative efforts, the life and ministry of our nearly 100,000 member brotherhood will be strengthened.

While the information given in the Yearbook pertains largely to organization and agencies, we want to emphasize that the real strength of any Christian group is primarily in the local congregations, the homes, and in the individual lives of its members. The general agencies and services of the brotherhood simply represent an effort on the part of congregations and conferences to unite in mutual assistance and service. Thus the denomination attempts to do those things which the New Testament Church is intended to do, and accomplish it more effectively through co-operative pooling of our total resources than could be done through the individual divided efforts of our local congregations. It is not a question of which is more important—the work of the congregation, the district conference, or the general church activities. All of them are important in fulfilling the church's ministry at home and abroad.

General Conference was organized and held its first sessions at the Holdeman Church, Wakarusa, Ind., in 1898. The gist of the five objectives was "to bring about a closer unity of sentiment and Gospel principles, a closer bond of sympathy among the congregations, to establish confidence among conferences and ministers, to direct the work that is of common interest to all congregations, and to promote the prosperity of the church." This issue of the Yearbook gives a picture of the development of the church through sixty-five years to accomplish these objectives and a current picture of the present operation of our brotherhood.

The chart on page 4 gives a quick glimpse of the outstanding features of Mennonite General Conference organization. It shows the twenty-one district conferences which are members or eligible for membership. The few conferences which have not yet chosen to be formally affiliated with General Conference sustain close relationships of co-operation and mutual sharing.

Delegates to the biennial sessions of General Conferences are chosen by district conferences on the basis of one delegate for every 200 members in the conference.

We shall briefly note the work of the various General Conference committees. The Executive Committee, made up of the officers, meets about once a quarter for the necessary guidance and direction of its officers and of the committees, as well as planning for the General Council and General Conference itself.

The General Council is made up of one member from each of the twenty-one conferences and one member from each of the three general church boards and the various committees of General Conference, together with the Executive Committee. The General Council usually meets three or four times during each biennium to give counsel to the various agencies as well as to consider matters of common interest and concern. The most recent meeting was in Chicago February 28 and 29, 1964. Important functions of the General Council are to serve in a co-ordinating capacity between the various general church boards and committees, as well as to offer opportunity for mutual sharing on the part of district conference representatives who are members of the General Council.

The co-ordinating aspect of the general agencies (those which plan, interpret, and administer programs for the entire brotherhood) is carried on by a Co-ordinating Committee of six serving the General Council. The major task of this committee is to give opportunity for consideration and clearance on items of common interest to these agencies. Since our general boards and institutions draw their resources of personnel and funds from the same constituency, as well as serving the same brotherhood, there must be careful co-ordination in planning, promotion, and administering their respective services.

For example, with the Mennonite Church using more than 2,000 people in its various services, personnel recruitment, training, and placement need to be worked out co-operatively. One brotherhood of 100,000 members should not have great variation in policies relating to wages or fringe benefits, as retirement, etc. Accordingly, steps are being taken to establish a standing committee to give united and careful attention to the matter of personnel for the employing agencies of the church.

The newest office established by General Conference during the past biennium has been that of Secretary of Stewardship. Under the competent leadership of Dan Kauffman, the first one to fill this office, the brotherhood is coming to understand more clearly the true nature of Christian stewardship and the significance it has to all of Christian life and service. A Stewardship Council has been set up with one representative each from the various conferences. In turn most of the conferences have named stewardship committees within their conference. For the August, 1963, to August, 1965, biennium the church has accepted the stewardship emphasis for its major concern. There is very general and enthusiastic support of this. The newer understanding and insight of the New Testament teaching on Christian stewardship is one of the most potent forces in our brotherhood currently for a genuine renewal in many lives and congregations. The blessings which the Lord will bring to and through our brotherhood during this two-year emphasis are entirely unpredictable.

With the continuation of the military conscription program in the United States, the Peace Problems Committee, directly and through its participation in the Peace Section in the Mennonite Central Committee, continues to serve the brotherhood in representation to government as well as interpretation of the alternate service opportunities and its implications to the program for the church. The Peace Problems Committee and MCC Peace Section are increasing their services in response to needs and opportunities for strengthening the peace witness in our overseas churches. However, the ministry of the peace witness of the church is far broader than the implications related to military conscription. It includes also the Christian's relevance to social issues as the race question and similar areas where we need to be sensitive, informed, and alert.

During the past year Mennonite Mutual Aid has completed a careful study and effected a major reorganization. As a result of this reorganization, there is now one organization with a membership of seventeen instead of seven or more separate functioning corporations administering respective divisions of Mennonite Mutual Aid's service to the church.

The Church Welfare Committee continues to give counsel in areas of interpretation, reconciliation, and improving relationships in or between congregations, conferences, and institutions of our brotherhood.

As a result of an extended study, the last session of General Conference changed the function and name of the Music Committee to the Worship Committee. While the new committee continues its concern for church music, it enlarges its area of service to the broader aspects of worship, as well as architecture and related interests. The personnel of the former Music Committee has continued as a special committee to complete its work on the Church Hymnal, which is scheduled for publication in the late 60's.

The Historical and Research Committee combines the services of the two former committees. This committee, through its Executive Secretary, gives constant attention to gathering, interpreting, preserving, and making available the valuable documents, papers, and proceedings of church leaders and organizations.

The Committee on Economic and Social Relations co-operates closely in various phases of its work with the Peace Problems Committee. The co-ordination of the efforts of these two committees is effected largely through the office of one person, Guy F. Hershberger, who serves as Executive Secretary of both committees.

The Ministerial Committee serves in two related areas. On the one hand, it attempts to challenge young men to accept the call to the ministry and to assist in their preparation for it, and in their placement and effective serving, primarily in pastoral positions. The related concern is to give assistance in the whole area of congregational organization and administration. With an increasing number of our congregations desiring the services of a better trained ministry, the importance of this committee's work has increased significantly.

In terms of direct relation to the work at the grass roots of the brotherhood, the Commission for Christian Education is one of the most important ministries of our co-operative service to the entire brotherhood. The wide range of their ministries is indicated by the thirteen secretaries responsible for the various phases of Christian nurture and related services operating in the local congregations in most instances. Probably one of the most significant aspects under the direction of the Commission is in the area of youth work through the Mennonite Youth Fellowship.

The three major church boards—the Mennonite Board of Education, the Mennonite Publication Board, and the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities—are quite similar in their method of representation, their organization, and their mode of operations. The major means of representation on the board is by conference election, while each of the boards also chooses a certain number of members at large, and General Conference elects three to five members on each of the boards. There are certain other members ex officio, the Mission Board having the largest membership since it includes the presidents of district mission boards and the divisional secretaries on the staff as ex officio members.

Furthermore, these boards have much in common, in that by their nature of organization and constitutional provisions they are largely autonomous, responsible directly to district conferences through the elected members. While they give courtesy reports to General Conference, they are not officially responsible to it. However, although these boards are largely autonomous, they seek to ascertain the needs and wishes of the total constituency and serve the brotherhood in a co-ordinated way. With the heavier programs which all of these boards administer, the need of closer co-ordination in planning, interpreting, and promoting them is a matter of growing concern. Mainly through the Committee on Co-ordination, there is constant improvement in communication and sharing of plans and in solicitation of resources.

The Mennonite Publication Board operates through the Mennonite Publishing House at Scottdale, Pa. A few facts show the scope of work and the effectiveness with which the Publishing House serves the larger objectives and ministries of the Mennonite Church.

There are 200 employees, about 130 at Scottdale and 70 at the retail stores. A little more than $2,000,000 in assets are necessary to provide the needed property, plant, and equipment as well as inventories and funds for operation. The total annual sales are approaching $2,500,000. The primary publishing includes books, periodicals, curriculum materials, and tracts. A complete and fascinating picture of the operation and ministry of our church-owned Publishing House can be secured by writing the Mennonite Publishing House, Scottdale, Pa., for a copy of the Publishing Agent's report, published annually in March.

The missionary and evangelistic outreach of the brotherhood beyond the local congregation is carried on through the mission boards of the district conferences and the General Board at Elkhart, Ind. The scope of the church's work in missions and relief is partly seen by the following figures from the General Board: The services of more than 1,200 people are used in nearly twenty countries. More than $1½ million are contributed to support this work. In addition, combined services through the district mission boards and MCC, in terms of funds contributed, are even greater.

The story of the varied ministries of our church at home and abroad is clearly pictured in the annual Handbook which is available by writing to the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities, 1711 Prairie Street, Elkhart, Ind. An evening spent studying this 269 page report for 1963 will prove extremely interesting and profitable. The Eastern Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities also publishes an annual, Missions Yearbook, which reports on its annual meeting, home missions, overseas missions, institutions and other activities. In 1964 this Board will have a special observance of the fiftieth aniversary of its founding.

Guidance for the educational work of our church, other than Christian education in the local congregation, is the responsibility of the Mennonite Board of Education. The Board's concern includes the more than 200 related elementary schools, eleven high schools, two colleges, a seminary and a nurses' training school. The Board of Education administers Hesston (Kansas) College and Goshen (Indiana) College and Biblical Seminary. Additional information will be gladly supplied by writing any of the schools or Educational Co-ordinator, Paul Bender, Goshen College, Goshen, Ind. Eastern Mennonite College, Harrisonburg, Va., continues under the control of a Board of Trustees elected by Virginia Conference.

Rapid and far-reaching changes require a new look at the church's many relationships. This is true regarding the North American brotherhood and overseas congregations and conferences. Our mission boards and General Conference have agreed that these relationships need to be on a brother-to-brother basis, rather than on a mission-board-to-mission basis.

Many years, and varying means of inter-Mennonite co-operation, lead us to seek even more meaningful ways of sharing in deeper Christian fellowship. The Mennonite World Conference contributes significantly in strengthening these relationships and improving the sharing experiences of Mennonites throughout the world. The Presidium, meeting in Switzerland in November, decided the next five-year conference would meet in Holland in 1967.

A further communication and question involves our witness within the larger Christian community. The Church Welfare Committee has been asked to give guidance in this area.

These are concerns demanding sincere soul searching, corporate study of the Word, and brotherly counsel. Let us gird ourselves anew, and together seek to discover more clearly and to fulfill the mission of His Church today.

L. S. Weber, 1894-1963

By Elvin V. Snyder

L. S. Weber during his lifetime was known as a mission superintendent, pastor, missionary, teacher, preacher, writer, editor, and counselor. He placed his whole life under the control of the Pauline Christian norm: "Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?"

Lewis Shantz Weber, the son of Joseph and Mary Ann Shantz Weber, was born Oct. 8, 1894, on a beautiful farm north of Waterloo, Ont. When he was less than five years old, his mother died leaving a family of nine children, Lewis being the fourth from the youngest. His father later married his former wife's sister. Four additional children were born making a family of seven boys and six girls.

In his youth he attended school completing what we consider the eighth grade. He passed the high school entrance examination with honors. Early in his Christian life he had the conviction for service somewhere in the Lord's vineyard. He accepted Christ as his Saviour at about the age of twelve or thirteen under the preaching of S. G. Shetler. Early in his Christian life he was active as a Sunday-school teacher of boys his own age or younger. While at home he helped his father on the farm and took his turn on the retail milk route in Waterloo. It was on one of these two-mile trips to Waterloo one morning that the Lord spoke definitely to him in the milk wagon. In his public testimony he told later how he knelt on the floor of the milk wagon and there promised the Lord he would follow wherever He would lead.

His home was marked by a strong spiritual atmosphere in which the children often heard his father pray for them. The children were dedicated to the Lord before they were born. All of the family became members of the church, and his father served as church chorister for forty years and as Sunday-school teacher for many years. One brother of Lewis became a minister and one a deacon in the church.

Not being interested in farm work L. S. Weber was employed as a clerk in a men's furnishing store in Waterloo. Later he worked for M. C. Cressman the owner of a general store in Kitchener located across the street from what is now the Provident (Golden Rule) Bookstore. In Kitchener he attended night classes at the Business College to prepare himself to become a banker.

During his youth he along with a number of young people consecrated himself to the Lord's service in response to a stirring message by T. K. Hershey in the Waterloo Mennonite Church.

In the fall of 1914 he enrolled in the Goshen College Academy and was graduated in 1918. In the same year following graduation he was ordained to the ministry to serve in rural mission work at Almira, Ont. While pastor at Almira he lived in Toronto where he attended Toronto Bible College in preparation for ministerial work. During the years 1920-21 he attended Goshen College.

Soon after his marriage on June 14, 1922 to Edna Bowman of Waterloo they were both appointed to serve at the Mennonite Gospel Mission, 2124 Danforth Ave., Toronto, where he was appointed superintendent by the General Mission Board of Elkhart, Ind.

During his nine years of service at Toronto he found time to enroll at McMasters University where he was graduated in English Theology in 1926. He received the B.A. degree from Goshen College in 1927, and was graduated from Toronto Bible College in 1931. During part of his 1939-40 furlough he took postgraduate work at the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth, Texas.

Brother and Sister Weber were appointed and sent as missionaries to Argentina in November, 1931. This new experience meant working in a new language and in a new field of Christian service. But the Webers adjusted admirably and aimed high in Spanish puristics. Bro. Weber was noted for his care and accuracy in the use of the Spanish language in his later writings and editorial work.

L. S. Weber contributed substantially as a preacher, teacher, administrator, writer, and counselor to almost every phase of the work in Argentina. The following towns and churches benefited from their witness: Pehuajo (1931-35), Alberti and Mechita (1935-37), Cosquin (1937-39), Buenos Aires, (1941-44), Bragado (1945-49). In 1944 he was ordained bishop by the election of the church in Argentina.

Perhaps the most permanent contribution to the Argentine field was that made to Spanish Mennonite literature. Beginning in 1934 he wrote numerous articles on the Christian life for the La Vos Menonita, then the official organ of the Argentine Mennonite Church. For several years he also edited sections of this paper. He was also editor of the El Camino Verdadero (1937-38), a monthly tract published by the Argentine printery. The circulation of this tract at one time reached a high of 25,000 where many of his compact messages appeared usually in alliterative outlines, as in "The Gloria Excelsa of the Cross: The Glorious Person of the Cross, The Glorious Purpose of the Cross, The Glorious Power of the Cross."

He also authored two books: Ideals for Christian Youth, written and published in 1932 while he was yet in Toronto; Argentina from Within published in 1945. He wrote articles for the Mennonite Encyclopedia and assisted in the compilation of the book The Gospel Under the Southern Cross, published in celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Argentine Mennonite Mission.

During his service in Argentina he taught a number of courses at the Bible College of Bragado, usually traveling from Pehuajo, Alberti, or Buenos Aires for his day of classes. He also served as committeeman, treasurer of the mission, president of the mission and of the pastors' meeting, district superintendent, and retreat director. In all of his varied services he was always precise, imaginative, generous, and adequate.

A group of fifteen of us who studied in Toronto in the years 1922-25 and lived at the Toronto Mission began a circle letter that is still making the rounds. I believe it was in L. S. Weber's last contribution read here in Puerto Rico a few days before he passed away that he mentioned that about every year our group was minus one. He was the next one although he should have stayed with us until 1964. Even these letters of his would make a fine "epistolario."

Brother Weber was ordained to the Christian ministry to serve in the rural mission field but the Lord led him to city missions then to overseas evangelism, and finally to literature evangelism. He was the fruit of the awakening church in Ontario and he responded and gave of his best to the service of his Master and Lord.

After his return in 1949 from his work in Argentina he joined the editorial staff of the Mennonite Publishing House. The Lord had prepared him for this work through his experience as editor and writer of Spanish while on the field. His special ability in the understanding and use of the Spanish language made it possible for him while at Scottdale to make an outstanding contribution to Spanish literature.

His first task along with Mrs. Weber's assistance was the translation and adaptation of eight grades of pupil and teacher's materials of the Herald Summer Bible School Series. These included two preschool grades and grades one to six. In 1951 he became editor with Lester T. Hershey of the El Heraldo Evangelico, a paper that had been founded by Hershey and edited by him previously. Bro. Weber served in this editorial position until the last issue, December, 1961, after which the paper was replaced by the Argentine published magazine El Discipulo Cristiano.

In the early 1950's and later Bro. Weber wrote the youth and adult teacher's sections of the Herald Teacher. From 1955 until January, 1962, when retired from editorial service, he served as assistant director of the Tract Department. In this capacity he along with Sister Weber rendered an efficient and most valued and acceptable service in literature evangelism.

While Brother and Sister Weber lived at Scottdale they attended part of the time the North Scottdale Mennonite Church where Bro. Weber filled preaching appointments at times. His counsel and his sermons were deeply appreciated by all three congregations in the Scottdale area as well as in the Conference. For several years he had bishop oversight of the Cumberland, Md., Mennonite Church.

He served in various General Conference activities. He was a member of the Peace Problems Committee and Young People's Problems Committee under Mennonite General Conference. He was active in the work of young people's institutes and helped to plan the first YPI program at Goshen College in 1929. He was also active in the promotion of literary societies. Bro. and Sister Weber while living in Buenos Aires gave much assistance to MCC relief workers in helping the movement of refugees to Paraguay.

J. W. Shank, pioneer in the work of the Argentine Mennonite Mission and colaborer with Bro. Weber for many years, writes the following appreciation:

"When Brother and Sister Weber arrived in Argentina in 1931 Lewis then 37, was already quite mature, able to carry heavy responsibilities. Efficiency in undertakings seemed always to be his goal, and these he carried to completion with apparent ease. We older missionaries were surprised that he, in his late thirties, could acquire in record time notable efficiency in the use of Spanish.

"He was by nature a friendly person. How easily he found and kept friends among Argentine nationals! Does it not then seem fitting that he should be assigned, even in his second year on the field, to the role of pastoral responsibility? Also his rich, clear expression in Spanish brought him the editorial and writing opportunities.

"He took his place creditably in our Argentine Conference and especially in youth retreats, giving dynamic messages and over-all leadership. How well we recall one typical series of messages, 'Biblical Separation,' that received intense attention and acceptance!

"L. S. was serious-minded and paid strict attention to obligations. Yet when with a group of fellow workers or friends he could be relaxed and free to enter into wholesome fun, displaying a keen sense of humor. He was appreciated by all missionaries and nationals for his strong moral integrity, his deep sincerity, and his spiritual insight. People always found in him wise counsel based on creative thinking and a 'conscience void of offense.'"

Bro. Weber answered his Lord's call on Nov. 20, 1963, at the age of 69 years. He was survived by his wife, Edna, and by six brothers and three sisters. Funeral services were held in the Scottdale Mennonite Church, Nov. 22, 1963 in charge of the pastor, Gerald C. Studer. Burial was in the Scottdale Cemetery.

John A. Kennel, 1880-1963

By Otto J. Miller

John A. Kennel was born Jan. 28, 1880, in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, the third son of Deacon John P. and Mattie Glick Kennel. His grandfather, Joseph Kennel, was born in France, June 24, 1823, came to America with his widowed mother, when he was eight years old, accompanied by four other children. Crossing the Atlantic required forty days and nights.

When John A. was two years old, the family moved on a farm, north of the Millwood Mennonite Church. In 1895 the family moved to Fauquier County, Virginia, where a colony of Amish Mennonites was established in 1892. While living near Bealeton, he was baptized by Bishop Cornelius Beachy. The soil in this part of Virginia was very poor and depleted; when the family in 1900 moved back to Lancaster County, the colony had dispersed. They located on a farm, west of Christiana and south of Smyrna, near Coperville. The farm was owned by Bishop Gideon Stoltzfus. His father died there in 1902.

The German church services were conducted every second Sunday and without a Sunday school. Sunday school was started in the spring of 1899 and held in the German language. When in 1906 on "the off Sunday," Sunday school was started in the Old Sadsbury Church (a Friends meetinghouse), about a mile northeast of Christiana, John A. Kennel was chosen as Sunday-school superintendent. This was the first in the English language.

John A. Kennel was married on Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 24, 1910, in the new Maple Grove meetinghouse, to Emma S. Kauffman, daughter of Michael and Mary Stoltzfus Kauffman. This was the first marriage in the Maple Grove meetinghouse. They were married by Bishop Gideon Stoltzfus. To this union were born six children: Lena, Ada, Rebecca (Mrs. Elmer K. Beiler), Minerva, Mary Emma (Mrs. Ephraim Nafziger) and John, Jr.

On Nov. 11, 1917, at the Millwood Church, from a class of five, he was ordained to the ministry by Bishop John S. Mast. In the spring of 1919, they moved to the present homestead in Chester County, near Sadsburyville, where he spent the last 44 years. Here the two youngest children were born.

When our first mission Sunday school was opened July 8, 1917, at Chestnut Grove Schoolhouse, midway between Parkesburg and Compass, he with Aaron Mast were the superintendents. This Sunday school continued until 1923.

He was called to the office of bishop, Sept. 19, 1926, when the lot was not used. The ordination was in charge of Bishops John S. Mast of Morgantown and Eli H. Kanagy, from Mifflin County. On Sept. 20, 1945, at the Mellinger Church, he, with the Millwood congregation and its mission outposts, was received into the Lancaster Conference. The ordained brethren at that time were: ministers, M. S. Stoltzfus, LeRoy S. Stoltzfus, Frank Stoltzfus, and Reuben G. Stoltzfus and deacon, Isaac S. King.

Due to a nervous breakdown in 1948, he was inactive for a year and a half. During this time the bishops of the neighboring districts had charge of communion and marriage services. On Nov. 3, 1949, LeRoy S. Stoltzfus was ordained bishop to assist him. Others sharing the lot were: Noah L. Hershey, Reuben G. Stoltzfus, and George B. Stoltzfus.

The last several years he wasn't able to attend Sunday school and preaching services. One of the sons-in-law would bring him to services after Sunday school, often on a wheelchair. The last service he attended was on Communion Sunday in the spring of 1963.

Our brother was a spiritual father to many in the church and a firm defender of the faith. He would often quote: "I have no greater joy than to hear that my children walk in truth" (III John 4). He oft referred to himself as an "unworthy servant." He excelled in preaching funeral and ordination services. His keen memory gave him the Scriptures in both German and English, interchangeable and with freedom, and always without notes. His last sermon was on prayer. He will be remembered by many of the ordained by the booklet by E. M. Bounds on The Preacher and Prayer which he gave to many. During his ministry he ordained one bishop, seven ministers, and two deacons.

He peacefully fell asleep, with the blessed hope, Oct. 11, 1963. The funeral was held at the Millwood Church, Oct. 15, where Elmer D. Leaman, pastor of Newlinville, and Bishop LeRoy S. Stoltzfus brought the messages. At the age of 83 years, he was the second oldest in length in the ministry and the third in age of the bishops in the Lancaster Mennonite Conference.

Among the large assembly who gathered to pay respect to our departed brother, were twenty-two bishops of Lancaster Conference, two from Ohio and Eastern, one each from the Allegheny, Washington County, Maryland-Franklin County, Pennsylvania and the Beachy Amish Mennonite Conference, with also a number of ministers and deacons. The burial was in the adjoining cemetery.—From Mennonite Research Journal.

The work formerly administered by the mission was turned over to the church with the exception of the Mara Hills School which is administered by the Eastern Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities through a local board consisting of three missionaries. The former mission properties have been turned over to the church and the Tanganyika Mennonite Mission as such has been dissolved.

Following is a list of missionaries appointed by the Eastern Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities for service in Tanganyika. All of these with the exception of the Mara Hills School are responsible to the Tanganyika Mennonite Church for their assignment and work.

PROVIDENT
BOOKSTORE

A New Symbol of Service

A New Name

Q. What's this new name for?

A. Provident Bookstore is a new name for all Mennonite Publishing House bookstores.

Q. Why a new name?

A. Mennonite Publishing House has eight bookstores. Up to now they have had six different names. This confused our customers and our suppliers. Sometimes it even confused us.

Q. Why Provident?

A. Provident means "providing for future needs or events." Though we surely won't be able to do it perfectly, this is our goal—to provide what you need in literature, educational materials, and church supplies. The Provident name will provide a constant challenge for us and, we hope, constant service to you.

Q. What does the symbol mean?

A. The extended hand is a symbol of service. It symbolizes the service we extend to you through Provident Bookstores. The cross in the hand tells you why we serve. Help us serve you. Tell us what you need in literature and supplies. We'll do our best to be Provident.

The Church Apostolic by J. D. Graber

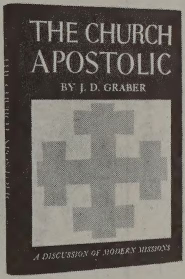
What are the essential methods of missions in these days of rising nationalism and changing cultures? The author shows how the Gospel must be proclaimed by word and deed to all lands and people and at the same time made relevant to the world as it is today. The author speaks to every member of the Christian church. $3.00



THE CHURCH
APOSTOLIC
BY J. D. GRABER
A DISCUSSION OF MODERN MISSIONS

These Are My People by H. S. Bender

This book is on the New Testament church. It is written from a Biblical point of view and cuts sharply across the contemporary church scene. Dr. Bender goes directly to the New Testament to find the answers to the question, "What is the church?" He describes the people of God, who they are, how they live together, and how they serve God. Here is a challenge to rethink the meaning of New Testament church membership in modern times. It will be stimulating reading for anyone who wants help in understanding what the Bible teaches about the church to which he belongs. $3.50
